GUMLEAF ESSENTIALS
AROMA THERAPY

*Created with only the finest quality
natural ingredients*

For millennia people from ancient cultures have made use of the beneficial properties of aromatic plants for health and wellbeing.

The experiments of French chemist René Gattefossé in the 1920's led to the development of Aromatherapy as the modern art and science of using natural aromatic essences. These essential oils are extracted from select plants to balance, harmonize and promote the health of body, mind and spirit.

Buckley & Phillips are one of Australia's most reputable suppliers of essential oils, with our Gumleaf Essentials range having been in production since the 1970's. Each product in our range is carefully crafted by hand in small batches with great attention to detail.

We offer a range of 5 unique essential oil blends designed specifically for ease of use, containing 100% pure and certified essential oils.

Our diverse and synergistic blends utilise carefully selected essences working in harmony to promote physical and emotional wellbeing.
